

Nested quality selections change sample composition; not exogenous quality treatments